Dear Community Partners and Neighbors:

In my time at Temple University Harrisburg, I have seen the positive impact of a community university that cares about its surroundings and the needs of those it serves. Temple University Harrisburg has been offering academic classes and programs in the city of Harrisburg since the 1950s. The campus location in the capital region allows us to share Temple’s pledge of academic excellence, innovation research, community service, and social justice with legislative and government decision makers, Temple’s students and community partners, and the public.

Being part of a top research institution has given our campus an array of community resources that permit us to aid students and community partners in accessing and benefiting from affordable and convenient educational opportunities. We pride ourselves on our understanding of and commitment to the working adult seeking continuing education, including through certificate, degree programs, workshops, conferences and other opportunities.

Temple University Harrisburg is a place where individuals share the common goal of personal betterment while sharing different values, views and beliefs. Temple offers opportunities for nearly everyone in the community, including many low-cost and no-cost options.

I invite you all to explore Temple University Harrisburg - visit our newly-renovated space, meet our staff, enroll in a course and engage with our community partners.

Thank you for sharing in our vision and mission of excellence. I look forward to seeing you soon.

Sincerely,

Link Martin, MSW
Director
Temple University Harrisburg offers you PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT & CONTINUING EDUCATION OPPORTUNITIES at your convenience.

From certificate programs to trainings, NEST or the Network of Evaluation, Services, and Training, is dedicated to creating space for professionals to get ahead! Our mission is to build individual, organization and community capacity through evaluation, services, and training.
ABOUT NEST

NEST or the Network of Evaluation, Services, and Training has a rich history of establishing collaborative partnerships with community organizations and agencies; anticipating and responding to the lifelong training and professional development needs of a diverse and changing community. We develop, implement, and administer high quality credit and noncredit courses, certificate programs, workshops, trainings and conferences to supplement and expand the professional development needs of the region. Through this broad range of continuous, flexible, professional development opportunities we offer services such as technical assistance, curriculum development, conference planning, and program evaluation. As an approved provider of continuing education for social workers, play therapists, teachers and other professionals, we review proposals and approve continuing education credits according to national and/or state licensing board standards for our community partners.

“I find myself increasingly reflecting back the content and emotion in the communication I receive from others, and asking them to confirm if that is what they meant to get across to me. In several instances, I find that I am giving my colleagues an opportunity to clarify something I either misunderstood or interpreted through my personal filter only.”

- Daniel Ofori-Addo, Director of Performance Management

The Enhancing Communities Learning Series (ECLS) is a program of Temple University Harrisburg NEST. This quarterly series offers you a convenient way to learn about important and relevant issues affecting nonprofits while enjoying a meal with your colleagues in the community. ECLS provides more than a chance to passively listen to presentations. We want you to be part of an interactive process of discovering new talents, opportunities, and resources in the community - all while making the community more aware of your organization's work. Each workshop includes: a meal and networking; announcements from attendees; and a workshop on a topic germane to nonprofit capacity-building or community issues. Visit our website to view more information on workshop topics and location information.
